

SAFE AT HOME GOALS FOR 2011

- Develop online training for enrolling agencies, law enforcement, the courts and public.
- Continue reaching out to California's culturally diverse communities to make them more aware of the Safe at Home Program.
- Work more effectively with the courts to familiarize them with the program and the rights program participants are entitled to receive.

“I am so thankful for this program... I finally feel safe.”

CALIFORNIA SAFE AT HOME LEGISLATIVE REPORT

2010

Because every Californian should feel and be Safe at Home

California Secretary of State Debra Bowen

Secretary of State

January 10, 2011

The 2010 calendar year was exceptional in both its challenges and its successes. I sponsored Senate Bill 1233 by the late Senator Jenny Oropeza, which was signed by Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger on, making Safe at Home a permanent program. This will ensure California survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking will continue to be served by this valuable program.

The fiscal situation in California has introduced new challenges in providing training to our partner agencies, the courts and law enforcement, while the number of new participants has grown by the highest percentage in four years. In spite of the budgetary challenges, California’s Safe at Home program continues to provide a high level of customer service and the most comprehensive services of all the confidential address programs in the United States.

I am pleased to present the Safe at Home 2010 Annual Report required by Government Code section 6210 (a). In addition to the summary report and statistical information, the following are the highlights of the 2010 achievements:

- Sponsored SB 1233 (Chapter 326, Statutes of 2010) that made Safe at Home a permanent program.
- Reduced operating expenses by streamlining procedures , providing phone training to enrolling agencies, and utilizing teleconferencing services to meet with other address confidentiality programs.
- Produced an online webinar in conjunction with the Family Justice Center Alliance to introduce Safe at Home program to victim advocates, lawyers, court officials, medical personnel, rape crisis clinics and the public. The webinar was viewed by over 600 registrants and remains online for continued viewing by new participants daily.
